

Four Pillars Consultation

The Chinese believe that universal order and all its interactions follow a set of rules that determine our fate. These interactions can be represented by the five elements, Fire – Earth – Metal – Water and Wood. As we are part of the universe, the Chinese also believe that our destinies are affected and influenced by the five elements and their interactions with each other.

The Chinese have studied the interactions of the five elements on people and the environment for over 4000 years and based on the principles of these relationships, they have refined a system that is unique, very accurate and logical in forecasting a person's future, called Four Pillars of Destiny.

Four Pillars of Destiny is based on the theory that a person inhales their destiny at Birth. Then, using a Chinese Calendar, the moment of a person's birth is translated into a combination of elements for their year, month, day and hour. Each of these elements is represented by a character. The configuration of elements and characters is believed to outline a person's destiny.

Four Pillars of Destiny is an accurate and detailed evaluation of a person. Using the information, a Destiny reading provides, you can forecast and understand a person's behaviour, their personality, their directions in life and their interactions with other people. Personally, it will assist with understanding your own elemental nature. It will give you the information you need to strive for balance and harmony with the five elements, and to apply it in your life.

People might question the need for a destiny analysis. If our fate is determined at birth, how can it be changed? Four Pillars of Destiny can tell you a lot of things about your life, its potentials and directions (fate), but there are also a lot of other factors to consider, not just the birth data. As individuals we have free will and this will alter where life takes you.

So, Four Pillars of Destiny shows us the potential and opportunities we will have in our life, and at what point, however our decisions or free will determines the path your life takes.

If you are interested in booking a Four Pillars of Destiny consultation please contact me via the form on the contacts page on the website.

A consultation includes the following & you are provided with:

- A comprehensive report on the influences in your life currently and in the future
- A 1 hour consultation to discuss the contents of the report
- A descriptive list of the five elements to assist you when reviewing your report
- A color chart

The Cost is $90.00

Each client will have ongoing support for any questions via phone or email.

Pre-Requisite:

You must be able to confidently tell me the date you were born and the City. The hour is also beneficial although not crucial unless you are absolutely certain of the time